

JAH-MAN'S FILLING STATION

'Jah-Man's' filling station, owned by Mr Jiji was a major success resulting from an NDA-funded integrated development project. Mr Jiji runs a rural service station on one of the main dirt roads in the Vulamehlo area. In 2005 PPT provided a range of support including business skills training, mentorship, business planning support and a micro-grant.

Mr Jiji undertook the following activities with seed capital which was provided:

- He bought cages to keep the gas cylinders, and vital safety requirement.
- He increased the number of cylinders and is now provides gas 9kg & 19kg gas tanks.
- He revamped his convenience shop.
- He painted the name name of the station in Rastafarian colours (red, green, yellow and black) and to the buildings.

VUKUZAKHE MUTHI GROWERS

Photo's to the right: Members of Vukuzakhe Muthi Planters from Eshowe display their range of herbal medicinal products at a Christmas Market. In 2008 PPT assisted the growers through marketing training to facilitate the development of an improved marketing plan, and to plan for capital outlay for a new range of organic indigenous plant-based beauty products that the co-operative wished to manufacture.
